"I was told by a source, which I cannot reveal, that Tucabia Tuc-a-buy...meant a place of food and rest. Well, being a curious lot, I had to investigate what I thought to be an aboriginal word. Looking it up in an aboriginal book of places and names, I came across the word 'tucki'. It's meaning was 'a reed with edible root'. My understanding of the aboriginals being a nomadic race, a bit like myself, I let my imagination wander a bit. Maybe while on walk-about to Wooli or Minnie Waters the tribe just might have stopped in this area. Now known as 'Tucabia' and had a bit of a nibble on that tasty reed with edible root. Whose to say?"

I've also heard that some wild Greek settled in these parts long ago. Maybe a long lost relative of mine? He was said to have started an eatery. Like most Greeks, dancing and singing was all part of the social aspect of serving food and drink to visitors.

Either way, it all sounds like a fine place for a squatter to rest. While the music plays you enjoy your meal: the pianola, a bit of guitar, squeeze box, accordion or banjo - no matter what, it's all good. The bush poets come out of the wood work just in time for dessert. A fine way to top of your visit.

Tucabia is a tucked away treasure of the Clarence Valley. A community with much to offer. I've settled into town now for four months at Squatters Rest, meeting new neighbours at our near monthly music nights and get together.

At Squatters Rest we offer a unique venue for many occasions. We like to try to personalise our menu and entertainment to your event. Every second of the month starting the 13th of August we will have a Market Day. On the 19th of August we are having a Greek Bush Dinner and on the 26th of August we will be having a Bush Dance with the Tallowood Bush Band and supper will be served. We are now taking bookings for Christmas parties, so get festive and book ahead.

I do hope to see you at Squatters Rest soon. We are just 25 minutes travel east of Grafton, as headed towards Wooli and Minnie Waters. Only 50 minutes north of Coffs Harbour via the Pacific Highway and approximately the same travelling south bound via the Pacific Highway from Yamba. All roads lead to Tucabia - Squatters Rest.

Bookings are essential, so come along and let us show you the shades of yesteryear. Phone 6644 8076."

Cheers,

Zoe
